Noted square footages and dimensions are measured to the exterior boundaries of the exterior walls and to the centerline of interior opening walls and in fact vary from the square footage and dimensions that would be determined by using the description and definition of the "Gross" area. In the Declaration packet generally only includes the interior square footage, the perimeter walls and number of interior structural components and other common elements. This method is generally used in sales materials and is provided to allow a prospective buyer to compare the Units with units in other condominium projects that utilize the same method. Measurements of Units set forth on this floor plan are generally taken at the farthest points of each room unless the floor plan is a perfect, rectangular, or other regular shape for any unit or its variations. Accordingly, the area of the enclosure will typically be smaller than the product obtained by multiplying the stated length and width. All dimensions are estimates which will vary with actual construction, and all floor plans, specifications and other development plans are subject to change and will not necessarily accurately reflect the final plans and specifications for the development.
